

Natalia Artemieva is the Head of the department of history of the Iaroslavl' State Historical-Architectural and Art Museum-Reserve. She is the author of several exhibition projects devoted to the history of the Iaroslavl' region. Her main research interests are the history of everyday life with an emphasis on the history of food culture in Russia in the XIX and the first third of the XX centuries.

Evgeniia Belousova, Sergei Khalturin and Margarita Vial'tseva are students of the Moscow State University. Their work was part of a project of the Department of Theory of Literature in the Faculty of Philology.

Lia Bushkanets is Professor of Russian literature at the Federal University of Kazan. She is a member of the Chekhov Commission at the Russian Academy of Sciences. She has authored several publications on the biography and the reception of Chekhov's works. Her other research interests include the study of memoirs, and the works by Lev Tolstoi, Gor'kii, Chirikov, Goncharov and other writers.

Duccio Colombo is Associate Professor of Russian at the University of Palermo. He graduated in 1993 at the University of Bologna and took his PhD in Comparative Slavic Literatures in 2000 at the University of Milan. He is the author of Scrittori, in fabbrica: Una lettura del romanzo industriale sovietico (Writers, at the works! A reading of Soviet production novel, Pacini, Pisa, 2008) and co-editor of L'anno 1910 in Russia (The year 1910 in Russia, Europa Orientalis, Rome, 2012).

Claudia Criveller is Associate Professor in Russian Literature and Language at the University of Padua. Her interest in auto/biographical studies dates back to her dissertation, entitled Autobiography and Autobiographism in Andrei Bely. An Analysis of Zapiski Chudaka. Recently she has dedicated herself to the study of the theory of autobiography in the Russian context. She is currently working on a monograph on the forms of self-representation in Andrei Bely, particularly studying the genre of autobiographical novel within Bely's trilogy Epopeia. She is the editor of the volume Andrei Bely: avtobiografizm i biograficheskie praktiki together with Monika Spivak (Nestor-Istoriia, Spb., 2015).

Giulia De Florio obtained a Phd in Textual, Paleographical and Linguistic Studies at the University of Rome – La Sapienza. She is a part time lecturer of Russian language and literature at the universities of Parma, Macerata and Florence. Her main areas of research is Russian children's literature of the XX century, with a particular focus on the works of Chukovskii and Marshak. She works also on the comparative analysis of the translations of XX century poetry, on Russian bards and their reception in Italy. She is a member of Memorial Italia and a member of the Working Group on Historical Memory of the EU-Russia Civil Society Forum.

Donatella Di Leo is lecturer in Russian at the University of Naples – L'Orientale. She is a member of the Italian Association of Slavists. She authored two monographs: Travestimenti del desiderio. Motivi faustiani nel Novecento letterario russo (Stilo, Bari, 2015) and Anime felici e terra paradisiaca. L'immagine russa di Napoli (UniversItalia, Rome, 2017). She has published also works on Radishchev, Bulgakov, Belyi and Tsvetaeva.

Ol'ga Edelman is a Research Fellow of the Russian State Archive (GARF). She is the author of works on the Decembrist movement, anti-Soviet movement in the USSR. She has also published a biography of Stalin devoted to his pre-revolutionary period.

Felicitas Fischer of Weikersthal works at the department of East European History at the University of Heidelberg. Her research interests are terrorism, radical networks, Stalinism, Gulag history, Jewish history in the Eastern Europe and cultures of remembrance. She is the author of the monograph Die 'inhaftierte' Presse. Das Pressewesen sowjetischer Zwangsarbeitslager, 1923-1937 (Harrassowitz, Wiesbaden, 2011) and the co-editor of Explosive Melange. Terrorismus und imperiale Gewalt in Osteuropa («Osteuropa», IV, 2016) and (Hi-)Stories of the Gulag. Reality and Fiction (Winter Verlag, Heidelberg, 2016).

Iaroslav Golubinov is Assistant Professor at the Department of Philosophy and Cultural Studies of the Samara State Medical University. His main field of research is the study of social and cultural aspects related to the First World War in different European countries (especially in Russia and the UK). He is the author of several articles in journals and collected volumes. His most important articles are devoted to food supply and nutrition during wartime, the rumours and gossips of the war, Russian volunteers and European cultural memory of the Great War.

Andrea Gullotta is Lecturer in Russian at the University of Glasgow. He has also worked for the University of Palermo, the Ca' Foscari University of Venice and the University of Padua, where he obtained his Ph.D. His main field of research is the literature of the Gulag. He is the author of several articles and of the monograph Intellectual Life and Literature at Solovki 1923-1930. The Paris of the Northern Concentration Camps (Legenda, Oxford, 2018).

Elena Karpenko is Associate Professor in History and Philosophy at the School of Cultural Studies at the Higher School of Economics. She obtained her PhD in Philosophy in 2004 at the Moscow State University. Her main research fields are Autobiography and Egodocuments in Early Modern Culture, history and philosophy of science (XVI-XVII), history of gardening and landscape design (XVI – XVII centuries), urbanization and modernity, and Russian religious philosophy.

Giulia Marcucci is currently Lecturer in Russian Language and Translation at the University for Foreigners of Siena. In 2008 she obtained a PhD in Slavic Studies at the University of Rome – La Sapienza with a dissertation on Chekhov's poetics and the adaptations of his tales in the Soviet Union up until the Stagnation period. In 2012 she was awarded the literary prize Italy-Russia. Throughout the Centuries for her translations of Russian contemporary literature (Skunskamera by Andrey Astvatsaturov and Cartoons by Mikhail Elizarov). Her main research interests are Contemporary Russian Literature and Cinema, the study of Russian language and autobiographical texts and memoirs in Russian Culture of 20th and 21st centuries.

Svetlana Maslinskaia received her PhD in 2006 with a dissertation entitled Literature of the Pioneer Organization: Ideology and Poetics. She is currently a research fellow at the Research Center for Russian Children's Literature at the Institute of Russian Literature (the Pushkin House, St.-Petersburg) and head of the Research Center for Russian Children's Reading at the Leningrad Regional Children's Library. She has extensively published on Soviet children's literature, history of the Soviet childhood, sociology of children's reading, history of the criticism of children's literature and the the Soviet Pioneer organization. She is the member of the editorial board of the journal «Children's Readings: Studies in Children's Literature» («Детские чтения»).

Bartosz Osiewicz is Assistant professor at the Department of Russian Literature of the Institute of Russian and Ukrainian Philology at the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań. He teaches history of Russian literature (especially 19th and 20th centuries). His main research fields are Russian author's song and modern Russian poetry. He is the author of the monographs Intertextuality in Vladimir Vysotskii's Poetry (Poznań, 2007) and Forms And Sources Of Alexander Galich's Poetry (Poznań 2016). His articles were published in Poland, Russia, Ukraine, Georgia, Spain and South Korea. He is a member of the Poznań Branch of the Slavic Commission of the Polish Academy of Sciences.

Stephan Rindlisbacher is Associate Researcher at the Department of History of the University of Bern, where he also worked as teaching assistant. He studied modern history, Slavic and Islamic studies at the Universities of Berne, Zagreb and at the State University of St. Petersburg. His PhD dissertation focuses on the radical movement in late Tsarist Russia, and particularly on the biographies of Vera Zasulich and Vera Figner. It was published in 2014 under the title Leben für die Sache. Vera Figner, Vera Zasulič und das radikale Milieu im späten Zarenreich. He is currently working on national territories in the early Soviet state, in the history of terrorism, transnational political networks, political commemorative culture as well as in the history of Russian and Soviet paper-money.

Tatiana Saburova is Research Fellow at the National Research University – Higher School of Economics, Moscow and Visiting Professor at the University of Alberta (Canada). She was a Visiting Scholar at many universities in Europe and USA. She is the author of the monograph Mythologies of the Russian Intellectual World: Socio-Cultural Representations of the Russian Intelligentsia in the Nineteenth Century (2005) and co-author with Ben Eklof of A Generation of Revolutionaries. Nikolai Charushin and Russian Populism from the Great Reforms to Perestroika (IUP 2017, first Russian edition NLO 2016).

Giovanni Savino is visiting associate professor at the School of Public Policy, RANEPA and Associate professor at the Institute of Foreign Languages of the Moscow City Pedagogical University. His main interests are nations and nationalisms in Late Russian Empire, identities, social and cultural history.

Ol'ga Shemiakina holds a PhD in Russian contemporary history at the Russian State University for the Humanities in Moscow. She currently teaches history at the D. Mendeleev University of Chemical Technology of Russia.

Irina Sleptsova (Kyzlasova) is Senior Researcher at the N.N. Miklukho-Maklai Institute of Ethnology and Anthropology of the Russian Academy of Sciences. She is the author of 4 monographs and more than 100 articles on Russian ethnography. Her main research areas are the study of local ethnocultural communities (ethnodialects), the study of Russian traditional and modern festive and gaming culture, including various forms of gaming behavior in communicative practices of children and youth. She also works on the study of peasant diaries as a historical source.

Geoffrey Swain is Professor Emeritus of Russian and East European Studies at the University of Glasgow, where he has held the Alexander Nove Chair of Russian and East European Studies. He has written extensively on the history of Russia and Eastern Europe during the twentieth century, focusing most recently on Latvia during the first years of Soviet rule, Russia during the Civil War, and the career of Josip Broz Tito. He is the author of a biography on Trotskii (Trotsky, Longman-Pearson, Harlow, 2006) and, more recently, of A Short History of the Russian Revolution (I.B. Tauris, London, 2017).

Aleksandra Zywert is Professor at the Department of Russian Literature of the Institute of Russian and Ukrainian Philology at Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań. She is a member of the Poznań Branch of the Slavic Commission of the Polish Academy of Sciences since 2005. Her main research fields are Russian literature in exile and Russian prose of the 20th and 21st centuries. She is the author of two monographs, The Novels of Boris Pil'niak of the 1920s (2001) and The Writings of Vladimir Voinovich (2012). She has also authored articles about modern Russian writers, such as Vladimir Sorokin, Viktor Pelevin and Anna Starobinets.